

JUST SAY NO TO HEAVYWEIGHT RUST BUCKETS

Please take a look at these trucks. They were found on a Dealer's lot as "Trade ins". They were from 1.5 - 2.5 years old. The truck beds were from different manufacturers. Why would you want to spend your money on a product that will end up looking like this? If the truck itself is important to you, isn't the bed part of the truck? We see a ton of nice trucks with a rusted truck body on it. It just doesn't make sense. Why would anyone not want the "whole" truck to look good and last more than a few years. Steel bodies also weigh a lot more, thus lowering your fuel mileage. An aluminum truck body might cost a little more now, but in the end it will pay for itself over and over again. Resale value of the truck will be much better with an aluminum body on it. We encourage you to think about your investment.

Your Truck Deserves the Best!

Put a Bull Head on it.